Regulatory

Mario Draghi's report, a focus on the proposed actions for the pharma sector

Mario Draghi's report urges closing the EU innovation gap with the US and China through ecosystem reforms, tackling energy costs for decarbonization, and securing supply chains to boost competitiveness.

Legislation

The new EU Supply Chain Law and a Transatlantic partnership

The CSDDD (EU) 2024/1760 directive mandates large companies to monitor human rights and environmental impacts across their value chain, with gradual implementation from 2027 to 2029 for major enterprises.

Legislation

Accelerating Clinical Trials in the European Union (ACT-EU)

The 2022 ACT EU initiative by the European Commission, EMA, and HMA aims to transform clinical trials for safer drugs, supporting academic sponsors, modern guidelines, and decentralized methods.

Research

What's going on for the future of R&D programmes

After the 2024 EU elections, R&I talks aim to boost competitiveness with Horizon Europe 2025 and FP10 for 2028, focusing on innovation, sustainability, balanced research, and increased investment support.

Biotech

Magazine MakingLife: The Market Journey of Biotech

Bringing lab breakthroughs to real-world use needs scientific, regulatory, and financial synergy. High costs, complex regulations, and skill gaps hinder market-ready therapies. Overcoming these is key for biotech's role in future healthcare resilience.
